

SOCIAL STUDIES—Critical Thinking

Subject	Title	Author	Abstract	Source	Publisher
Critical thinking, problem-solving, teamwork, collaboration, and creativity	Social Studies Teachers and Technology: Activities for the Constructivist Classroom	Margaret L. Rice	Provides information activities developed in an attempt to integrate technology into the social studies curriculum.		Retrieved from http://www.webcom.com/journal/rice.html
Critical thinking, problem-solving, teamwork, collaboration, and creativity	Using technology for powerful social studies learning	Rose, Stephen, A., Fernlund, Phyllis Maxey	The right combination of computer hardware and software can help social studies teachers create opportunity for powerful learning.	March 1997 vol67 n3 p 160	Social Education
Critical thinking, problem-solving, teamwork, collaboration, and creativity	Transforming learning with technology: lessons from the field	Rice, Margaret L., Wilson, Elizabeth K., Bagley, William	A five-year study of a social studies teacher in an Alabama high school while working to integrate technology and constructivist learning into the classroom.	Summer 2001 vol9 i2 p 211	Journal of Technology and Teacher Education